

For those unfamiliar with the Prime and Subcontractor arrangement: Your day to day technical tasking is assigned by Lockheed Martin management. In some cases GHG does have Supervisors and Leads who you will be working for. GHG takes care of all administrative aspects for you. GHG and Lockheed have worked together for over 20 years in similar arrangements. So essentially, if it is a technical issue, you will take that up with Lockheed management, administrative with GHG, if you are unsure, I have a good working relationship with all the Lockheed managers and I am sure we can resolve the problem between us.
